The Bible in a Year: Old and New Testament Each Day

Read the whole Bible in 365 days: an Old Testament reading and a New Testament reading every day, both in Bible order, balanced so each day takes about 15 minutes. Check the box beside each reading when you finish it. You can start on any date: use the day numbers and ignore the dates.

How to Use This Plan

Day 1 Is Any Day

Begin on January 1, or today. If you start mid-year, follow the day numbers and you will finish a year from when you began. In a leap year, use February 29 to catch up.

Fell Behind?

Don't quit, and don't try to read a week in one sitting. Read today's reading, and catch up the missed days a little at a time, or simply carry on and finish a few days later.

Old Testament Column

Read only this column to read the Old Testament in a year, Genesis 1 to Malachi 4.

New Testament Column

Read only this column for the New Testament in a year. Long chapters are split over two days.

Tips for Finishing

Begin With Prayer

Ask God to open your eyes to His Word before you read (Psalm 119:18).

Same Time, Same Place

Tie your reading to something you already do each day, like breakfast.

Missed a Day?

Don't quit. Pick up today's reading and catch up a little at a time, or just carry on.

Keep a Notebook

Write one thing you learned about God each day, and one question to look up.

Read With Someone

A friend, spouse or small group on the same plan keeps you going.

Listen, Too

An audio Bible on a commute or a walk is a good way to keep up.

One Bible

Read from one translation you understand. See our Bible Translations page.

Check It Off

Mark each day on the printable checklist. Small wins keep you reading.
